To oust pickets?

Fair going to court

The Alameda County Fair Association has sought private legal counsel in an attempt to banish county pickets from the entrances into the Fairgrounds in Pleasanton.

Picketing at entrances escalated Monday though no incidents were reported. The Fair Association Board of Directors voted last Tuesday to consider cancelling the annual Alameda County Fair if the strike is not settled by Friday at 10 a.m.

According to Lee Hall, secretary - manager of the County Fair Association, counsel John Cantwell was to represent the Fair in Superior Court. Hall said he took the action after conferring with Tom Kitayama, president of the Fair Association Board of Directors.

It was learned last week that the county workers' strike committee had voted Thursday night to place pickets at the main gate on Pleasanton Avenue as well as auxiliary gates on Bernal and Rose.

A spokesman said that picketing prior to Friday was "at the county worker's own volition."

Though it could not be confirmed, Hall claimed that one of the pickets Monday went inside the grounds and was observed writing down a license plate number near the stables area.

Directors stated last week that if the strike were still on or if pickets were still at the entrances Friday morning, they would consider shutting down the Fair, scheduled to run from June 27 to July 11.

Hall estimates that $350,000 to $400,000 in expense has already been put into this year's edition.

Any such cancellation would mark the first time in more than 30 years the Fair has not been held.

On a second front, the race meeting at the Solano County Fair in Vallejo got underway Monday void of any irregularities and apparently with a full race card.

A settlement was affected after a marathon seven-hour session that concluded at 5:30 a.m. Saturday.

What affect a possible shutdown of the Fair would have on a race meeting in Pleasanton has not been determined.

Stations may appeal plan OK

PLEASANTON — "I'd say the odds are we'll appeal," attorney Joe Schwab said of his gas station operator clients after the planning commission's approval of a Gas and Save Station at Hopyard Road and Johnson Industrial Drive.

The station owners or anyone else who doesn't like the idea of a station on that northwest corner of the intersection have until June 24 to file an appeal with the city.

The planning commission granted the conditional use permit for the station on a 4-1 vote last week. Commissioner Walt Wood was the lone opponent.

"The staff gave us a report about the traffic on Hopyard Road, but nothing about the traffic on Johnson Drive," Wood told The Times yesterday. "They would have to put 'no parking' signs along the curve in front of Denny's (to insure good visibility along Johnson) and that's a form of special priviledge."

The curve in question travels nearly two - thirds of a mile and that's going to make it mighty inconvenient for drivers of big rigs who like to park there and eat at Denny's, said Wood.

Schwab argued that the site was turned down once before by the city council in 1971. The city had enough gas stations to serve it at least until 1980 and that was before growth projects and projections slowed way down, said Schwab.

A planning staff report in 1969 warned against creation of a Gasoline Alley on Hopyard Road and also advised of potential traffic circulation problems in the area, said Schwab.

Schwab also opposes it because the station would have "a devastating impact on the entire service station community in the city". "Impact" is different from "competition", said Schwab.

"It's not a question of someone being here nine years and then letting in a cutrate station," said the attorney. "Impact talks about jobs. A full service station employs more people than a self - service station."

"The staff admitted that the Gas and Save on First Street did have a devastating impact on nearby stations. Is it desirable to have three, four, five, or more empty stations in the confines of the city?"

These alleged economic effects are the reason Schwab and the gas dealers asked for an Environmental Impact Report on the proposed station. That request was denied by the city council 3-1 with Frank Brandes voting for the EIR.

Councilman Ken Mercer announced he will abstain from all discussion and decisions on the gas station issue. There is a remote possibility he has a slight conflict of interest, a moral one, but not a legal one, he said.

Bill Hirst, attorney for Gas and Save, was not reached prior to our deadline yesterday.

Electricians' strike halts work on P.O.

PLEASANTON — The area - wide electricians' strike has halted work on the new post office and other valley building projects.

Postmaster Mark Foster said that much of the electrical work has been done at the post office and nearly all other work is completed. He has a scheduled move - in date of July 24, but that could be held back if the electricians' strike is a long one.

The strike began Friday for Bay Area locals of the Internationl Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Their contract with the building industry expired June 1 and after a 10 day extension, they struck.

A spokesperson for the union had no comment yesterday about the strike. The superintendent for Stevenson Pacific Construction Co. of Redwood City on the post office job said the dispute centers around wages. He had no estimate about when they might return to work.

Foster also commented on complaints to The Times from a postal boxholder that people are being reassigned new box numbers as part of the move to the new building.

Not many boxholders will be affected by the renumbering, he said. Postal patrons were sent letters notifying them of the change in the post box numbering scheme and were told whether they would have to switch to larger or smaller boxes if they wanted to keep the same number. Very few boxholders bothered to reply to the letters, said Foster.

Downtown promenade plans explored

LIVERMORE — Beautification Committee members last night presented to the city council sketches and conceptions of a First Street that would attract strolling shoppers and encourage the use of the merchants' parking lot.

The presentation outlined ideas for First Street which as yet are unfunded and committee members plan to attend the upcoming council budget study session to request money for their ideas.

According to Ayn Weiskamp, committee chairperson, $12,310 is needed for a pilot project.

Envisioned is a rest area along Schlageter's Stationery Store, 2086 First St., and a connection through the so-called Carlisle property to the merchants' parking lot behind the store.

The rest area incorporates a trellis, grape arbor, drinking fountain, information kisok, bike parking and landscaping.

"First Street is automobile oriented," explained committee member Norm Hong. "The atmosphere is a monotonous one and there's no invitation to people to walk from place to place."

Hong pointed out rest areas would draw people to the downtown and add charm to the shopping area.

Committee members suggested these rest areas be developed in increments adding one or two a year and starting in front of the stationery store.

Linda Galas, another committee member, told the council the new Annette's Shop will incorporate a sidewalk overhang as well as a rest area of its own with benches and flowers.

That project should be completed by November, she said.

Also due for improvement is the Schenone Building, Galas said. The structure will be unified through the coordination of color. "It's three separate colors now, and it looks miserable. It will be unified through painting and style," she promised.

The Boys Scouts have offered to paint the Shenone Building as well as others for public relation purposes, Galas explained. They also are willing to conduct clean-up projects and paint other buildings.

Galas added "a lot of flack" has been given to First Street merchants about the back of their stores. As a result the merchants are making a concerned effort to clean-up and paint the backs of their stores.

The committee's report was greeted with a burst of hand clapping by Mayor Helen Tirsell. "I think we need to applaud you. You may rescue First Street in spite of itself," the mayor said.

Call again 118 years from now

PLEASANTON — The city will mark its 82nd birthday Friday and no celebration is planned, a caller complained to The Times last week.

Our erstwhile reporter didn't get the caller's name, but a check with city hall revealed that indeed no party is planned for the occassion.

The number 82 doesn't exactly ring out with special meaning and as Doris George of the City Hall staff observed the city had a big celebration at number 75. In fact, that celebration kicked off the long string of Firemen's Musters, so in spirit anyway, the recent 8th Annual Muster was the city's 82nd annual birthday party.

"We'll proabably hve have another big one at the 100th birthday," said George.

Future of two pools mapped in an outline

DUBLIN — A five-page outline containing recommendations for the development of a community aquatics program has been submitted to the Valley Community Services District Board of Directors by the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Parks and Recreation (CAC).

The goal of the outline is to "introduce and maintain a high-quality, year-round community aquatics program which will allow maximum usage of pools by the maximum number of people."

VCSD owns two pools: San Ramon Olympic Pool at California High School and Valley Communtiy Swim Center at Dublin High School.

VCSD directors are expected to take up the committee's recommendations when they meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the VCSD General Office, 7051 Dublin Blvd., Dublin.

The CAC recommendations are based on the premise that "our pools were built to fulfill our community aquatics needs through a complete community program." The committee noted that year-to-year continuity of staff and program is essential to achieve the district's goals.

Spurred by recent vocal criticism that the district's pools mave been permitted to run down, the CAC developed the outline as an aid to redressing some of the problems VCSD has had.

The outline reviews the aquatics programs (offerings and scheduling), pool maintenance, management, and economics.

AQUATICS PROGRAMS

Recreational programs suggested for both summer and winter includehrecreational swimming, swimming lessons, water ballet, synchronized swim, water polo, scuba diving and sailing.

School and competitive swim programs are also included.

The committee said the pools should be open daily and evenings, seven days a week. During the school season, use should be made of pools for recreational purposes at times that do not conflict with school programs.

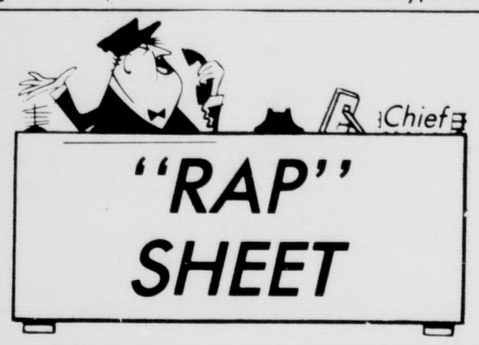

Physical aspects of each pool (size and shape) should be considered to permit multiple or concurrrent pool use.

A tire afire

It was so hot yesterday. . .that even a tire caught on fire! This small grass fire on Maywood yesterday afternoon had this one lone firefighter seemingly saying, "It's too hot to be out here." But the extremely dry season, coupled with a plethora of firecracker - wielding children (especially during the Bicentennial), will make for a super - hazardous summer, according to Pleasanton fire captain Doug Cracraft. Thus, a warning: Be careful with cigarettes, matches, campfires, and especially firecrackers.

Police seeking suspect in attempted rape

LIVERMORE — Police are searching for clues to the whereabouts of a man with a neck wound who attempted to rape a 27-year-old woman in her South R Street home early yesterday.

Detective Jim Serna said the suspect first turned off electricity to the home and then entered the unlocked front door. The woman awoke to see the knife - wielding man kneeling above her as she lay in bed.

She struggled with the man and received cuts on her hands as she attempted to fight him off. She ceased resistance when he threatened to "cut" her young daughter who was asleep in the next room.

The young girl was awakened by her mother's screams, and the woman pleaded with the attacker to allow her to get the girl's teddy bear to quiet her. He agreed, and followed her to the kitchen, where she grabbed a long butcher knife and after attempting to stab him, slashed the left side of his neck.

The attacker ran from the house with the knife - wielding victim in pursuit. He ran down South R Street, as the woman's screams attracted two motorcyclists from a nearby gas station to her aid.

The victim was treated for two cuts to her hands and a cut inflicted on her shoulder.

Det. Serna said the attacker was described as a white male, about 5 feet 7, stocky build, with brownish collar - length hair, wearing a shirt, jeans, and a cap. The woman said he had a "very bad body odor" and foul breath, and wore plastic gloves similar to a surgeon's.

Police think the attacker may be linked to two unsolved rapes which occurred in November and December of 1974. On Nov. 11 of that year, a 22-year-old woman was raped by a man who climbed into a window of her Holmes Street residence, stood on her bed and threatened her with a knife, cutting her hand during the attack.

On Dec. 21, five weeks later, a man brandishing a "long curved knife" attacked a woman in her Walnut Street home. In both attacks, police said the suspect had apparently cased the woman's daily routine well, turned off the electricity to the homes before entering, and committed the rapes at 3 a.m. and 3:30 a.m. respectively, all similar to yesterday's attempt. The attacker wore plastic surgeon's gloves in the second attack, police added.

Any persons having knowledge of a man with a recent cut on his neck and/or fitting the attacker's description should contact Serna at 443-0111. Complete anonymity and confidentiality is assured.

Sunday drive turns to nightmare for couple

PLEASANTON — A Livermore couple taking a leisurely drive to celebrate an early father's day Sunday were rammed six to seven times and forced into a fence by a car that sped away, but a suspect was later arrested by police.

Ronald Kato and his wife Christy were travelling down Vineyard Avenue when their car was rear - ended by a tan - colored Dodge. According to reports, the suspect vehicle rammed Kato's car six to seven times before forcing it off the road into a fence.

Kato drove his car from the fence and followed the vehicle until he got to a mobile home park on Vineyard, where he let his wife out to call police. He then pursued the suspect vehicle into Vintage Hills, when the car reportedly turned around and the driver threatened to ram Kato's car at a high rate of speed.

The chase continued down First Street and onto 680 southbound. The suspect vehicle turned off at Andrade Road and up into the hills, but Kato elected to stop and call police, fearing the man might be armed.

Police later appeared at the mobile home park where Kato and his wife were visiting his parents, and asked him to attempt to identify a man inside a mobile home just a few feet from their unit as the suspect. Kato peered inside a window and recognized the man as the suspect who allegedly tried to run him off the road.

Police said the man, who previously refused to leave the home, became angered at the identification and rushed through the front door into the waiting arms of police. He was arrested at the scene, and identified as Maynard Earl Becker, 49, of 3231 Vineyard Ave., no. 69, a dispatcher for the border patrol stationed at Camp Parks. Becker was booked on suspicion of felony assault with a deadly weapon, hit and run, and speeding.

Kato complained of neck and back pains as a result of the collision. His wife, who is four months pregnant, complained of nausea. Both sought treatment at Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek.

Becker was released on his own recognizance.

Two youths arrested, one sought in auto theft case

LIVERMORE — Two youths were arrested and a third juvenile is being sought by police in connection with the theft of a car from an Amherst Way residence Friday.

Ruth Biebesheimer reported her 1964 Chevrolet was missing from her garage about 11:30 p.m. Friday, police reported yesterday. Officer Kenneth Gardner and reserve officer Bruce Jensen took the theft report and resumed street patrol.

A short time later, they spotted the vehicle at a stop light at East Avenue and Hillcrest Way. Upon activation of the car's sirens and lights, the suspect car sped away down East Avenue.

Police followed the car to Drake Way, when it stopped and the car's three occupants fled into an open field. Gardner grabbed the driver and Jensen caught the female passenger, but a third youth escaped.

The suspects reportedly admitted stealing the car, saying they drove it to Pleasanton and back, and planned to run away to Santa Cruz.

The driver, age 15, and the female passenger, 14, were booked and then released to their parents with notices to appear in court. The third youth, age 13, is at large but his identity is known to police.

The car was recovered and returned to it's owner.

Strikes spread

Electricians join walkout

By The Associated Press

Electricians in Contra Costa and Alameda counties went on strike Monday, joining about 1,900 workers already striking in Fresno, Madera, Tulare, Kings, San Mateo, Santa Cruz, Santa Clara and San Benito. The electricians are seeking a $2 hourly increase in wages and fringes, which would boost them to $15.44.

Meanwhile, the two-month strike by Golden Gate Transit District bus drivers ended Monday when district directors gave final approval to a one-year contract with a wage increase of 17 cents an hour.

Bridge officials said bus service to San Francisco from Marin and Sonoma counties will resume today.

Don White, the district's bus transit manager, estimated service would be about 75 per cent restored today and possibly 100 per cent Wednesday.

The settlement — approved earlier by the directors but rejected by the union — raises wages from $6.72 an hour to $6.89 and provides increases in cost of living protection and fringe benefits.

Across the bay, a strike by 3,000 Alameda County employes ground on with no sign of a settlement, and the Alameda County Central Labor Council was to vote on whether to grant strike sanction to 2,000 Oakland city workers.

United Public Employes Union Local 390 — representing 2,000 city librarians, clerks and park and street workers — rejected a two per cent pay hike offer and demanded an $80 across-the-board pay increase plus four per cent.

The county strikers continued to picket the county fairgrounds at Pleasanton. Officials have said they may cancel the fair, unless the strike is settled by Friday. The fair is scheduled to open June 27.

Three locals of the Service Employes International Union struck June 2, seeking a 7.6 per cent wage-fringe benefits package. The Board of Supervisors has offered 4.2 per cent.

Garbage collection and health services have been affected, but most offices have continued operating.

No talks are scheduled before June 21 in the week-old strike by 8,000 warehouse workers belonging to the Teamsters Union and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. About 500 firms have been affected.

Reporter 'will be avenged'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — "May God have mercy on the souls of those who killed him, for I have none," Bernie Wynn said of the murder of his fellow journalist Don Bolles.

Wynn is the head of the legislative bureau of the Arizona Republic where Bolles was assigned when his automobile was blown up in gangland style on June 2. He died of his injuries Sunday.

"Watching his majestic battle against terrible odds, I thought he would live," Wynn said. "His death leaves us all poor."

Bolles, who lost both legs and his right arm as a result of the blast outside the Clarendon House hotel, never left the critical list after being hospitalized.

Publisher Nina Pulliam said in a signed front-page editorial Monday: "The Arizona Republic and the Phoenix Gazette do not intend that Don Bolles' death shall go unavenged.

"Even deeper than our profound grief are our anger and our outrage ...

"We will leave no leaf unturned in our commitment to see justice done in this terrible tragedy."

Services were scheduled Wednesday at the Church of the Beatitudes.

Within hours of the death, John H. Adamson, 32, a Phoenix racing-dog breeder, was booked into Maricopa County jail on an open murder charge.

Village rent hikes pondered

PLEASANTON — The possibility of a 20 per cent increase in rents at Komandorski Village will be discussed by housing authority commissioners when they meet at the Komandorski Community Hall at 8 p.m. tomorrow night.

The hike is seen as necessary to cover rising utility costs, especially fuel oil. However, at lhe last meeting, newly - appointed tenant Commissioner Beverly Montgomery from Komandorski asked for time to encourage the tenants to forestall the rent increase by cutting back on energy consumption. She is expected to report on her plan at the meeting tomorrow.

Planners nix 51-acre ag-to-homesites bid

Alameda County Bureau

HAYWARD — County planning commissioners yesterday unanimously rebuffed a petition to reclassify some 51 acres of agricultural land on Foothill Road into 12½ acre homesites.

The commission denied Vincent De Demonico's request on grounds it would "prevent the orderly development of planned expansion by the city (of Pleasanton)."

The county planning department was against the change because of a lack of sewer services — the homesites would have been on septic tanks — and fears of setting a precedent in the area.

The 50.54 acres are on the west side of Foothill Road, 800 feet north of the Santos Ranch Road intersection.

Commissioners continued a request by Chester Anderson to reclassify from agricultural to suburban - residential a 52-acre parcel on Portola Avenue opposite the North P Street intersection in Livermore.

No public testimony was given against the request.8 The commission will hear the petition on June 28.

They also continued a request by Robert Woolverton to change a 1.87-acre parcel in Dublin from light industrial zoning to a general commercial district.

The land is at 6451 Scarlett Cr., east of the Dougherty Road intersection.

That petition also will be heard June 28.

Students' big pay day

LIVERMORE — The end of the school year brought thousands of dollars' worth of awards to Granada and Livermore High students, according to counselors there.

Granada High will begin a permanent student art collection with a pastel drawing by Katherine Burden. Her picture was given a purchase award by the Granada Supporters' Club, originators of the new tradition.

At Livermore High, newly graduated senior Gregory McFann won the Martha Boyd Scholarship in memory of the English Department head who was killed in a plane crash last October.

Gregory is the son of Virginia and Charles McFann of Livermore. He enjoys playing clarinet, sailing and gardening, and plans to major in chemical engineering at the University of Illinois in the fall.

The competition was conducted by the English Department at Livermore High.

Mrs. Boyd's husband, Calvin, a teacher at Granada High, was piloting the plane that crashed in the Central Valley and was also killed. A scholarship in his name was awarded to Tom Moxon of Granada High, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Moxon of Livermore.

Tom was chosen by the Technical Arts Department faculty as the recipient of the award. He will use the money to attend California Polytechnic Institute at San Luis Obispo where he will study agricultural engineering.

Other awards announced by Granada High School include:

Bank of America certificates: Laurie Rodrigues, Karen Holdener, James Cross, Robert Harvey, Dawn Rychnovsky, Carl Casareto, Janet Hawley, Buddy Newman, Steven Byrne, Gary Graff and Dana Grzybicki.

Bank of America plaques: John Calo, Kevin Smith, Joanne Kienzle, Scott Campbell.

Betty Crocker award: Janet Hawley.

Summer school cards available at Dublin

Students may pickup registration cards at Dublin High School today or Wednesday for summer school, which starts Wednesday at Dublin.

The Amador Valley Joint High School District session continues through July 28.

Classes for Pleasanton Joint School District summer session students commences Monday, June 21 at Harvest Park (Grades 4-8) and Alisal School (Grades 1-3).

High school summer session principal Tom Himmelberg says some openings still exist in classes to be offered starting Wednesday.

Classes will be held Monday through Friday from 7:35 a.m. to 11:50 a.m.

Students who satisfactorily pass and complete their summer school work will earn 10 semester periods of credit for four hours each day in summer school courses. In the case of review courses and if the student is repeating a course for which prior credit has been earned, no further credit is given but the higher grade will be recorded on the student's transcript.

Himmelberg reminds that credit earned in summer school classes will not be used to advance the student's date of graduation.

The district will also conduct a summer youth employment program and the Regional Occupational Program has scheduled a course in cosmetology.

Dave Cook will serve as principal of the elementary summer school.

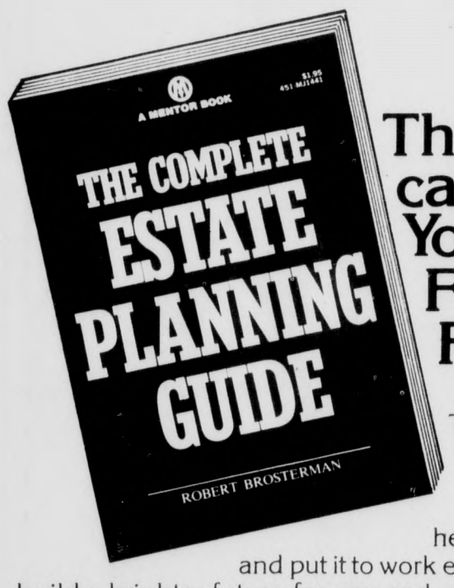

Limited bus service will be provided for students going to and from summer school in the Pleasanton district.

Charter for the proposed San Ramon Valley lodge is now open, with the next meeting slated June 22.

Party launches new Elks lodge

Partygoers danced until the doors closed at 1 a.m. at the first social event sponsored by the proposed San Ramon Valley Elks Club just getting on its feet.

Acting Secretary Monte Lukov of San Ramon, chairman of the first-class dinner and dance, was pleased with the turnout of 160. That evening 41 men had signed a petition to charter the new Elks lodge, bringing the total to well over the required 150 for lodge initiation.

Ed Gregory, acting chairman of the proposed lodge and a member of the Livermore-Pleasanton Elks lodge, hopes to solicit 250 to 300 signatures for the charter in order to establish the new club on a solid foundation. One third of those who have expressed interest in joining the club represent the San Ramon area, one-third the Dublin-Pleasanton area, and one-third the Danville-Alamo area.

Distinguished guest Al Alford, state secretary of the California-Hawaii Elks, commended the "outstanding enthusiasm and support" already rallied by the new group.

Interested men will be welcome at the June 22 meeting of the proposed lodge at the Danville Veterans Building. An 8 o'clock meeting follows the social hour. The Emblem Club, a women's auxiliary to the Elks, will be explained to wives of those joining the new lodge at a Ladies' Night planned July 13. The organization is also anticipating a family picnic this summer.

The Protective and Beneficent Order of Elks is a fraternal organization dedicated to community service and good fellowship.

Diane Bechtold banters with John and Mary Lou Hall at the successful first social for the proposed San Ramon Valley Elks Lodge.

Ed Gregory and Reed Bells greet distinguished guest Al Alford, state executive of the California-Hawaii Elks who commended the enthusiasm of the newly-organized group.

Speak out on wages

The Alameda County Commission on the Status of Women urges all workers, especially women, to testify at the Industrial Wage Commission hearings to be held this week.

Many workers are exempted from the minimum wage set by this body. If you are mentally or physically handicapped, classified as a "learner" or a youth, you may not even get the minimum wage for your work. The Commission on the Status of Women opposes all exemptions to the minimum wage.

To testify, come today to the state building in San Francisco at 350 McAllister St., Room 1194, from 10 a.m to 5 p.m., or 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. June 16 Hearings will be held June 17 from 10 a m. to 5 p.m. at 198 McAllister St, Moot Courtroom, Fourth Floor.

You may call ahead, send written testimony or get to the courtroom an hour before each session begins to sign up to speak.

The Industrial Wage Commission sets minimum wages and working conditions for almost all the non-management workers in California. These hearings are intended to gather public input on the working standards they are proposing for this year.

Volunteer Bureau funding

String attached to money

The Tri-Valley Volunteer Bureau may receive $2,800 from the East Bay Community Foundation if it can meet the conditions of the grant which call for matching contributions from the community.

The announcement came from Betty Stallings, director of the bureau, who said that the new organization was "willing to meet the challenge" attached to this first sizeable offer of financial support.

The Tri-Valley Volunteer Bureau, which acts as a clearinghouse for community volunteer needs, has been operating on a slim budget of $50 per month with an all-volunteer staff since last October.

The $2,800 contingency grant, plus an initial gift of $500, represents the first money allocated to an agency in this valley by the East Bay Community Foundation, and is one of the largest grants made by the small foundation. The Volunteer Bureau applied for the grant after an article in The Times reported that the foundation had given nothing to the Livermore-Amador Valley to date.

Providing the Volunteer Bureau can raise funds or gather pledges for $5,600, it will receive the $2,800 in monthly allotments over the next 14 months.

Matching community contributions on a two to one ratio was made a condition of the grant in order to encourage local support of the Volunteer Bureau, a foundation spokesman told Mrs. Stallings. The Volunteer Bureau's board of directors will soon meet to decide how to enlist community support so that the grant may be released.

The Volunteer Bureau, which has tried to meet increasing demands for its services to the valley, has an immediate need for a second office telephone. The bureau might also expand its responsibilities to include volunteer training and broad coordination of valley social services with additional funds.

A recent forum on volunteerism, attended by 46 representatives of valley social agencies, expressed the hope that the Volunteer Bureau would take on tasks of volunteer training, coordination of valley agencies, and sponsorship of a social service newsletter and forums.

"The bureau has shown such validity and such promise, that I hope we can secure its future financially," said Mrs. Stallings.

Valley prayer breakfast set by Exchange Club

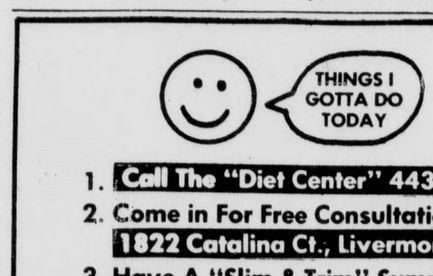

Plans are being Formulated for the First Annual Community Leadership Prayer Breakfast, according to Captain Lee Basnar, president-elect of the Amador-Livermore Valley Exchange Club which will sponsor the event.

The bicentennial theme For the July 10 breakfast is "One Nation Under God," underlining the high principles under which the nation was founded, a major emphasis of the national Exchange Club.

Basnar reports that the club will cooperate closely with other service organizations and churches of the communities of Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin-San Ramon in order to make the event a valley-wide effort.

Featured speaker for the breakfast will be Colonel Heath Bottomly, retired from the United States Air Force, "an outstanding witness to his Faith in God and country," Basnar says. The breakfast is set at 8 a.m. at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Dublin.

Tickets for the breakfast are $2.50 per person, and may be purchased from valley businesses or from local churches.

Cowboys come to Livermore on the rodeo trail

A novice bareback rider tries to spur over the horse's shoulders while holding on for eight seconds.

LIVERMORE — Under sunny skies the Livermore Stockmen's Rodeo Association held the 58th Annual Livermore Rodeo last weekend. And although the attendance was less than had been expected, for those fans who whiled away the weekend afternoons stretched out in the stands, it was entertainment that lived up to its name: World's Fastest Rodeo.

More than 100 men competed each day in ten events: saddle steer riding, calf roping, novice bareback riding, team roping, bareback riding, local team roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, wild cow milking and bull riding.

Fifteen young women competed in the girls' barrel race.

Rodeo competition is derived from skills used by cowboys on the range. But today, rodeo events have clearly defined rules, with points awarded by judges to entrants with the best performances.

Calf roping was a skill every cowboy needed when it came time to "doctor" or brand a calf. The calf is let out of the shoot ahead of the cowboy on horseback.

The cowboy must laso the calf, and as the rope settles over the neck of the calf, jump off the horse. He must throw the calf to the ground by hand, tie up three of the calf's legs with the "pigging string" with using three wraps around and a half hitch to hold the animal.

Raising his arms in the air to signal for time, the cowboy remounts his horse and waits six seconds to make sure the animal is tied. There will be no score if the calf breaks loose in that time.

In team roping, sometimes called "headin' and heelin'," two men and two horses work together to rope a steer.

The steer is given a head start, and the team sets off on horseback to rope the steer. Headin' comes first — the cowboy must laso the steer around the horns, the neck, or one horn and the neck.

The heeler must then laso the two hind feet, and ropers must stretch the ropes taught, with steer inbetween, for official time.

Bareback riding, or the bucking bronco event, got started in the 1920's. With no saddle to hang onto, the cowboy must ride the bucking horse for eight seconds. Points are awarded for style: the higher the rider spurs and the wilder the horse bucks, the better the ride.

Cowboys must try to establish a rhythm without letting their free hand touch the horse or the equipment.

Barrel racing is the only event in which women participated this last weekend. The object is for the rider to manuever her horse around three points of a triangle, from 20 to 35 yards apart, in the fastest time.

Women will take part in a variety of rodeo events at the Livermore All Girls Rodeo, July 17 and 18.

Clinging closely against the rigging handhold, a cowboy comes out of the chute, flailing his legs in rhythm with the buck of the bronc.

Opening lead — Ace ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If South had stayed out of the bidding the chances are that East and West would have reached four hearts and made it in spite of the 5-0 trump break. On the other hand, they might well have worked their way up to five or even six hearts. We will never know, because good old South had the equivalent of a sound opening one-heart bid.

The fact that West's opening spade bid had cut down the value of his king of spades and that East's two-diamond call had shown both diamonds and at least 10 or 11 high-card points did not faze South. His hand was worth an opening bid. Nobody was going to keep him from overcalling and he did bid two hearts.

West doubled to end the bidding. South did get something of a break. West didn't have a diamond and decided to lead his ace of spades. He continued with a low spade. East ruffed and South's king of spades had bitten the dust.

South did manage to collect three tricks, but down 1400 was a lot to pay for the pleasure of making a bad overcall.

No room for 6th grade

SAN RAMON — All sixth graders slated to attend the new Pine Valley Intermediate School here will probably not be able to.

That's the latest estimate of San Ramon Valley Unified School District Supt. Allan Petersdorf.

The school was designed for three grade levels — sixth, seventh and eighth — a total of 850 students.

However, calculations show there are 898 students who would be in those grades when the school opens in September 1977.

"We probably can't accommodate all the sixth graders," Petersdorf said.

The Neil Armstrong Parent Teachers Association board has requested the school house three grade levels because:

— "Two years does not allow for any kind of growth continuity.

— "A three - year facility will give better continuity in education.

— "Three years will allow our children to develop strong, and hopefully, good peer relationships and that it will also foster better rapport and understanding with the faculty.

— "Last, but not least, is the re-occurence of mass building in San Ramon, with the greatest impact to be on Armstrong School and California High. Armstrong will be over capacity with the news homes going in and a three - year school . . . will greatly reduce our anticipated overcrowding and ward off any notions of double sessions (which Armstrong has already gone through)."

'Family affair' highlight of Rodeo

Family tradition has always had a big influence on the rodeo circuit.

This was very much in evidence at the 58th edition of the Livermore Rodeo at Robertson Park over the weekend.

Tim Petersen of Livermore, whose father used to do some riding of his own, won the novice bareback riding event with a 102 total. The 19-year old had a 52 score in Sunday's competition, beating out David Paulo.

"I won the California State High School bareback riding competition in 1974," Petersen said. "I hope to do a lot more of this before I'm through. I'd like to do this the rest of my life."

More local honors came in the professional team roping competition where Mel Costello and his son Mel. Jr. won the afternoon competition, taking their steer in 7.8 seconds. They were the last team to compete in their event and brought a big roar from the crowd when they roped their steer.

Both are veterans of the rodeo circuit.

"I've been doing this since about 63 or 64," Mel. Sr. revealed after his event was over. My son's been doing it for about seven or eight years."

Mel. Sr., who was brought up in Tracy, said another big rodeo is on the Costello's calendar.

"We're heading for Salinas in July," he said.

Salinas is Livermore's main rival for rodeo's big time in Northern California.

All the glory wasn't reserved for family entrants, however. Most of the events saw excellent competition as Livermore's facilities are ranked among the best in the country for performance.

Jack Gomez and John Weatley took first prize in the overall professional team roping competition. They roped their steer in 6.3 seconds. Jeff Barmess and Ed Hirdes finished second in 7.1.

Danny Torricellas won the calf roping contest with a combined 15.3 score. Jeff Copenhover and Cliff Young tied for second with 25.9s.

Professional bareback riding saw Royce Smith win the afternoon competition with a fine 76. Joe Alexander was close behind with a 73 and John Clements third with a 68.

Kay Vomvarses won the girls' barrel race in 34.8 seconds with Diana Hill close behind in second with a 34.9.

Herb Swardwoudt won the wild cow milking event and Lupe Aquayo was second. David Gravatte finished third.

The last event of the day, bull riding, drew the most response from the 7,000 spectators.

Some of the rodeo clowns spiced up the action by taunting the bulls, some of them weighing almost a ton. Indeed, several times the bulls came within inches of goring the clowns, who seemed like pretty good athletes themselves.

Raymond Lewis rode Cactus Jack to victory with a 74. John Davis and Bill Dunn each had 73s to tie for second.

The rodeo drew about 11,500 fans for the two days in stands that hold 9,000. Rodeo officials were hoping for a packed house.

Not that the officials didn't try to draw the fans. Several extra events and competition for kids were on the program as was some "down home" Country and Western music.

All that and some fine local "family talent."

Airways takes weekend split

Bercovich of Hayward, fresh off a stunning 19-4 pasting of the Tri - Valley Cubs, staged yet another rude initiation to a valley team Sunday, blitzing Livermore's Connie Mac team, World Airways, 19-8.

World Airways, now 1-1 in league play, actually drew first blood in the contest on Dan Wood's leadoff homer over Granada High's right-center field fence.

Then Bercovich's bats started humming to the tune of back-to-back homers by Tim Miller and Tom Castro, the former a three-run shot after a walk and a Livermore error.

Bercovich scored four times in the second inning, but Airways came back with single runs in the second and third stanzas to close the gap to one.

In the second, Steve Stone singled to lead off the inning. Bill Jespersen forced Stone at second on an infield grounder, but a Tim Shatswell single and walk to Scott Trudeau loaded the bags.

Starting pitcher Bob Parness came to the plate and laid down a perfect suicide squeeze bunt, scoring Jespersen from third.

Stone's single in the third inning scored Rich Palmer from second base to make it 4-3. Palmer had reached on a walk and advanced to second when Dave Krikorian was hit by a pitch.

Livermore's hopes of remaining undefeated in league play vanished quickly in the next three innings, when Bercovich put on a violent hitting attack and took advantage of some bouts of wildness from Parness and reliever Bob Stoddard.

Bercovich scored 10 times in the marathon seventh inning, sending 14 men to the plate.

"We were right with them until that inning," lamented coach Dennis Berger "We played better yesterday." Airways beat Fremont, 6-5, on Saturday.

Livermore added three runs in the eighth inning, the key blows a double by Wood and Greg Frates two-run single.

"These guys play over 100 games a year," said Berger during the game.

The feeling of being beaten soundly on a near 100 - degree day was summed up neatly in the 9th inning, when Livermore second - baseman Kevin Gosney was upended on a double-play attempt by Bercovich's Brad Wellman. "Welcome to the big leagues, Kevin," sighed Berger.

Desperate Frazier ready for Foreman

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — Joe Frazier is headed toward another title shot or retirement, and George Foreman will help determine the direction.

The two former heavyweight champions will meet Tuesday night in a scheduled 12-round fight which will be seen on closed-circuit television throughout the country, but not in the New York area.

sports

Foreman, who still owns a home in Livermore, is continuing his comback after losing to Muhammad Ali in 1974.

Frazier's career appeared ended after losses to Muhammad Ali in 1974 and last Oct. 1, but this time Eddie Futch, Frazier's trainer and advisor, leaves little doubt that Joe is through if he loses.

"There would be no reason to go on," Futch said Monday. "He will never become just an opponent."

But Futch added, "When he wins, he'll be the No. 1 contender again."

One Las Vegas bookmaker had Frazier a slight favorite to win the fight which is scheduled to start at 10:30 p.m., EDT, in the Nassau Coliseum.

The book quoted Frazier at 7-5 and Foreman at 9-5.

On Jan. 22, in 1973 in Kingston, Jamaica, Foreman was a 3½-1 underdog but emerged as the heavyweight champ by knocking down Frazier six times and stopping him in the second round.

"Joe will never say it, but he was overconfident," said Futch.

But the real question about the rematch is not whether Frazier is mentally ready but whether he can adapt. There also is the question of Foreman's stamina.

"The things I need to do for this particular fight, I just got to do," said Frazier, who kept getting up and going back into the face of Foreman's power in Jamaica.

"I know whatever Joe Frazier does in this fight is what I let him do," said Foreman.

"He (Frazier) can only go in one gear," said Gil Clancy, Foreman's trainer.

"They always said I couldn't box, but I can box," said Frazier. "The idea is to go out there and get him out of there. But if I have to box, I can."

Angelo Dundee, Ali's trainer, thinks Foreman will win early and Futch agrees that the first few rounds are when Frazier must be most careful.

Foreman still owns a gym in Livermore's Rincon Shopping Center, but did not train there in preparation for this fight.

Each man is getting $1 million, with prime title fight consideration also going to the winner.

The 32-year-old Frazier, who is giving away five years, 3½ inches in height and five inches in reach to Foreman, will be fighting for the 36th time as a pro. He has a 32-3 record with 27 knockouts. Foreman goes into his 43rd fight with a 41-1 record, with 38 knockouts.

Alameda duo takes playoff

A birdie on the first sudden-death play-off hole gave John Enright and teammate Doug Poole the championship of the Livermore City Two-man golf Tournament Sunday.

The Alameda duo had tied with Livermore's Vic Wolfe and Bob Fulton after the regulation two rounds of play at 135, forcing the play-off for the $300 first - place prizes.

Wolfe and Fulton each earned $100 for their efforts, which included a first - round tie for the lead at 67. Ned Bellinger and Rod Velasquez, right at home on the Las Positas course, were among the teams tied for first after the opening round but finished the tourney tied for third at 136.

Morgan Barofsky and Steve Stimac of Concord joined them a stroke back of the play-off contenders. The team of airport workers Frank Mazion and Grovin Garvin fired a 137 to deadlock Roger Armstrong and Steve Gazzaneo for fifth.

Sweepstake trophy

Foothill band people's choice

A standing ovation of two minutes made the 110 strong Foothill High School Marching Band, Pleasanton the choice of the audience as well as the judges when they performed at half time in Portland, Oregon Friday, June 11.

Their halftime performance following the six and one quarter mile long Rose Festival parade won the already top performing marching band their first Sweepstake trophy. To participate in halftime festivities, a band must be invited. Foothill was one of the seven out of 27 bands who were asked to perform.

A special pleasure and excitement came over the members of the band upon hearing about their winning as they had decided to dedicate this performance in memory of their fellow band friend, Tami Schlies who died of cancer in February.

As the winning band departed from the field following their presentation, the Hawaii Band formed an archway with their instruments for the performers to walk through to show their talents were appreciated by other bands as well.

The first time competitive performers at half time was the only band from California taking part in the activities and the first time an out-of-state band won the Sweepstake award. The group competed with bands from Hawaii, Colorado, Oklahoma, Oregon and Washington plus others.

A special Bicentennial Award was presented this year at the Rose Festival. Foothill High Band took second place in that as well as second in the parade awards.

The young musicians not only earned all these awards, but before heading for Portland, each member earned money towards his own expenses of the trip. Those not meeting the entire cost of the trip were assisted with finances by the 70 family members of the Booster Club or their parents. Some students exceeded the cost of their expenses and were refunded the difference.

Tired but jubilant, the Falcon representatives of the school's band were greeted by a large crowd at the school upon their return Sunday evening with welcome home signs and cheers of "We're proud of you."

The rightly so, extra proud band director, Bob Moorefield, says, "We've only just begun."

Many invitations have been extended to the band for future performances, but Moorefield says, "these are now under consideration."

Local people desiring to catch a performance of this outstanding band who has a record of six first place; five second place; one third place and two fourth place trophies may do so at the Bicentennial Theme County Fair Parade scheduled for Sunday, June 27 beginning at noon down Main Street, Pleasanton.

The band has been marching for only two years. The first two years consisted of freshmen and sophomores only, now includes juniors, but as yet no seniors. Next year will be the first full school, freshmen through seniors, marching band.

The band will continue to compete as a marching band and halftime performers. This sweepsteak award, top honor of all awards, was the first attempt for the band in halftime performing.

Firework stand fee suit studied

FAIRFIELD—Solano Superior Court Judge R. J. Sherwin has taken under advisement a lawsuit against the City of Benicia that charges it with requiring "exorbitant and confiscatory rates" for a license to sell fireworks.

A judgment is expected sometime within the next few weeks. The plaintiffs, David Helquist and Shortstop, Inc., are seeking a preliminary injunction against the city that would invalidate its current rate of $3,000 for a fireworks license.

Fire burns Marin homes

SAN RAFAEL (AP) — Two Marin County homes were destroyed and two firemen injured Monday by a pair of volatile brush fires fanned by 15 mile-per-hour winds, county fire officials said.

One blaze, near San Rafael, was contained almost three hours after it began at about noon. Firemen said they hoped to contain the other, near San Anselmo, later in the day.

Every fire department in the county contributed equipment and men in an effort to halt the flames. Aircraft were used to dump fire retardant chemicals on the fire, the spokesman reported.

The Shell Answer Man tells you how to handle car troubles on the road

The Shell Answer Man

Q. What's the first thing to do if my car breaks down?

A. Get it out of the way, and if possible, off the road. Get yourself out of danger's way, too. That sounds elementary, but too many drivers stop right in the middle of the road when they needn't. And they take chances when they shouldn't.

Q. What could I carry in my car that would really help in emergencies?

A. A working flashlight, a simple set of basic tools, warning flares or reflectors, a lug wrench, and a jack. A fire extinguisher is also a good idea.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: This morning you answered the letter to the husband about his too-fat wife who has no will power.

Now, what do you have to say about a wife who is skin and bones? She was fat eight years ago but went on a strict diet and lost 45 pounds — which was 15 pounds too many. She still thinks of herself as "fat" although she is a rag, a bone, and a hank of hair.

The crazy nut can't decide what to eat. When we go to a restaurant she studies the menu for half an hour. Nothing "looks good." She finds all kinds of excuses for having "just a cup of consomme." The woman just plain hates to eat.

She's a nervous wreck — afraid she'll gain a pound — and she's making a wreck out of me. Please give me a better understanding of her problem before I walk out of here. She always reads your column and maybe she'll listen to you — Going Mahoola

Dear Mahoo: Your wife should see a doctor immediately. From the symptoms you describe it may be that she is suffering from anorexia nervosa, a common sychological problem among females (rarely males). I hope she listens to me. Her life could be at stake.

Dear Ann Landers: I took care of my father-in-law for three months while he was terminally ill. My nerves were shot.

The doctor suggested I go to a hospital to "rest up" for a couple weeks. My husband and I decided for the same money we could go to a resort.

The first week was wonderful, then we ran into a fisherman buddy and his wife from our home-town. The three of them decided we should take an apartment together. I was against the idea, but went along with it to keep the peace.

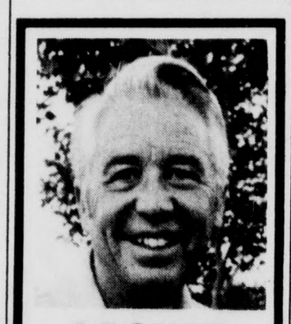

The other husband informed me on the first day that I would have to do all the housework and get the meals because his wife was "tired" and on holiday. I said "No," emphatically, and explained that I was "on holiday," too.

My husband became upset and gave me the silent treatment for the entire week. In the meantime, I did all the work because the other wife slept until noon and it took her two full hours "to meet the world."

I feel my husband was very disloyal because he didn't stick up for me. Now that we are home he still isn't speaking. What do you suggest? — Hurt

Dear Hurt: A man who is so immature needs counseling. Since he'd probably refuse to go, I suggest that YOU go, in order to learn how to live with the stubborn ox.

Also, you might learn a few things about yourself, such as why you let him (and others) kick you around so shamelessly.
